Getting Warm.

The Great Register is now the Local Option thermometer. Registrations indicate the heat of the canvass in the townships wherein elections are to be held. The citizens of Murray township will vote on the license question on the 27th inst., and the Local Option thermometer indicates warmth—twenty-two applicants for registration were made at the Clerk's office. Alameda and Eden haven't begun to warm up as yet.

The City Credit.

When eight per cent. bonds sell at a premium, the financial health of the city is not in a very bad condition.

TEACHERS' SALARIES.

Schedule of Salaries Adopted by the Board of Education Last Night.

Following are the terms per month for which teachers in the Oakland Public Schools will have to labor the ensuing educational year:

Principal of High School and Irving Grammar School $200; First Assistant in High School, $150; Second Assistant in High School, $100; Third Assistant in High School, $80. Principals in Grammar Schools, $150; first assistant teachers, first grade, $95; first assistant, second grade, $90; first assistant, third grade, $75; assistants in Grammar schools, the terms range from $80 down to $67 50.

Principals of Primary schools of eight or more classes, $100; first, second and third assistants, $85, $80 and $75; assistants holding first grade certificates, terms range from $67 50 down to $47 50.

Principal of the Cosmopolitan school, $125; assistants ranging from $77 50 to $72 50.

Teacher of Drawing, $100; Music, $100; and German, $100.

Four principal janitor's wages, $65 to $50; other janitors, $5 per month for each room.

The Fourth in San Francisco.

The various societies, and military and fire organizations of this city have been invited to join the celebration of the Fourth of July in San Francisco. Grand Marshal Norcross was in Oakland to-day and stated that the Executive Committee was very anxious to have a large delegation from this city take part in their celebration. It is proposed to make this one of the largest and finest affairs of the kind ever held. It is a remarkable fact that perfect harmony exists in San Francisco in relation to the celebration this year, and the procession will be worthy of the occasion and the city. Mr. Norcross, as Grand Marshal, is evidently the right man in the right place. He says that if a delegation will go over from this city, he will guarantee that they will be cordially received and handsomely treated. Inasmuch as there is to be no celebration in Oakland, we hope that the invitation will be accepted by a large number of our citizens.

Badger's To-day.

Our reporter left the Park at one o'clock. According to the "oldest inhabitant" present, the turn-out was not up to last year, but we thought the crowd sufficient to insure a very good time—if not bored by literary exercises. Walcott's band and some vocalists were occupying the floor chiefly up to date, and every table and nook was taken up by groups of jolly old and young, eating drinking and romping. On our return the street cars were crowded with additional visitors, besides many carriages, so that it is not unlikely the assemblage will have equaled if not excelled any previous re-union of the Trollemites. The weather is just right—not too warm to dance or romp or anything else incident to the best regulated picnic.

Dropped from the Roster.

By reference to the proceedings of the Board of Education, it will be seen that the name of Mr. Brodt, long time Principal of the Prescott Grammar school, gives way to that of Mr. Brier. There are other changes.

New School Building.

East Oakland will be favored by the immediate attention of the Board of Education, on the subject of a new public school house building. The Board discussed the question last night.

Lost.

A black satchel containing articles of value to the loser, was lost on the two o'clock train Sunday afternoon. Particulars in advertising columns.

New York Sample Rooms.

George Conrad, formerly located at the corner of Sixth and Broadway, has removed to No. 906 Broadway, between Eighth and Ninth streets, where he has opened hand, some rooms, and where he keeps on hand, at wholesale and retail, Wines, Liquors, Cigars, etc. Goods delivered free of charge. A general invitation to his friends extended.

POLICE COURT.

Five arrests for drunkenness were made yesterday, four of whom were put through the Court this morning. Owing to the crowded state of our columns, we suppress the names of all concerned—Court and other officers included.

Groceries and the Muses.

The corner of Twelfth and Broadway has ever been the popular place for families to procure good, fresh groceries, fancy or staple. McCrum & Cushing have constantly on hand fresh butter, cheese, ham, eggs, fruits in cans and glass, and all the many thousand articles of provisions used by every family. As to Teas—let others buy their willow trash, and name it mild Oolong, and boarding houses serve it up as excellent Souchow; I buy my tea at McCrum & Co's, they who sell at moderate rates, a fragrant herb that ever cheers but not inebriates. My taste for tea, thus cultured, by many a perfumed brew, has taught me a lesson that I'll now convey to you; and this it is, when'er you wish Imperial or Japan, Souchow, Gunpowder, Hyson, go to no other men—let McCrum & Co. all your Teas supply, and "tease" yourself no more running round inquiring for the best from store to store. Spices, too, a vast array, by trade-winds blown from afar, more odorous and pungent than our Northern flowers are. Nothing is here forgotten, from a Herring to a Cheese. You can quickly find and pay for, in short, just what you please. Fragrantly smells the coffee, that most aromatic bean, a rare collection, always fresh, and either browned or green. The reader should remember now, the place to go for these: remember that when others fail, McCrum & Co. will please.

Currents are Current!

C. R. Lewis & Co., fruit dealers, 1003 Broadway, have just received the largest and finest Cherry Currants ever brought to this market. They will dispose of them cheap—which affords housewives an excellent opportunity to make jelly. And do you know that currants make the finest wine you ever drank? Local Option will not prevent you from making and drinking your own wines. Get your currants of Lewis & Co., and then, if desired, the TRIBUNE will furnish the best recipe for making currant wine ever known.

Gurnett Bros.

These gentlemen have something to announce to the public to-day. See the advertising columns of to-day's TRIBUNE. Gurnett Bros.' furniture and carpet establishment is one of the largest and most complete on this coast, and they have decided to sell goods for the next two months at greatly reduced prices. Everybody ought to examine their goods before purchasing, for they certainly offer great bargains.

Flour and Feed.

The old firm of Sarpy & Barstow, Eleventh street, near Broadway, furnish flour and feed, food for man and beast, of the very best quality, and in any amount or variety. They deliver feed, flour, hay and grain, to all parts of the city. Get your flour and feed of Sarpy & Barstow.

Fire Commissioners.

An adjourned meeting of the Board of Fire Commissioners will be held on Thursday evening June 18th at eight o'clock.

Wanted To-day.

At the office of the Western Union Telegraph Company, a boy to deliver messages. Apply in person, with recommendation.

Wharf Repairs.

The railroad people have a steam pile driver at work about midway of the piers.

New Photographic Gallery.

Mosses, Dunham & Lathrop's beautiful new Art Gallery, on the west side of Broadway, between 18th and 19th streets, is now open to the public. Every style of work known in the profession, executed in the best manner and at reasonable rates. Special attention given to children's pictures, and pocket work, copying and enlarging of old pictures, etc.

THIRD TERM TALK.

The astounding fact that we have a President of the United States who can keep his own counsel, attend to his own official duties unaffectedly and live without having to make a confidant of every one—horse scribbler in the land, is calling out a second bowl about so-called Caesarism. There is nothing in the Constitution of the country about electing a man three times to the Presidency, as there is nothing to prevent the average editor from making an ass of himself every day in the week. Had Grant ever shown the least indication of being bull-headed or offish toward the people in the greater questions before the country, it were well to sound the alarm on this third-term prospect; on the other hand, he is a close student of the besinterests of the nation, and thus far has carried all the points in the game worth the candle. This is no doubt very aggravating to every petty fault-finder, and who would refuse to be comforted were the President as pure as Christ and as ready to lay down his life for saint and sinner. We have so little fear of any dangerous ambition on the part of the unpretending occupant of the White House, that, unless a better man than any yet named as a probable successor be developed, we believe the good sense of the majority would not feel the least shocked were he to announce himself for another term. So far as his military career is concerned, and the speculative assertions as to an exercise of imperial authority in consequence of another term, sufficient has been developed to prove that he would be only too glad to wipe the army out of existence, were a Congressional opportunity afforded; he would sign the bill in a minute. He knows what can be done with a volunteer force, and he would hardly expect assistance from that direction to help him to a dictatorship. He kills off the politicians by letting them talk themselves to death, and for that reason we want him elected a term or two more; by that time the country will have settled down to honest hard work, and the "ephyx of the White House," as the Herald calls him, can retire with more blessings on his head than any man who ever lived. When the Recording Angel comes to use a file of Bennett's newspaper for a day-book, we'll conclude that Grant would sell out his country on a third term.

THERE will be no celebration of the Fourth of July in Oakland this year. The Council has declined to assume any pecuniary liability, and it cannot be expected that private citizens will bear all the burdens. There has been so much excitement lately that the people do not seem inclined to participate in a celebration, and if the Council had voted some money for this purpose, it is not likely that the affair would have been a success. We hope that such apathy will not exist next year.—News.

It wasn't apathy that prevented the Council from joining in a celebration, but lack of funds. The amount of money that has been illegally paid the News during the past year for city printing would have been a munificent contribution towards a celebration. As it is not likely that donations to the News will be continued, the Council may find sufficient funds at its disposal next year to warrant a slight expenditure for patriotism. Thus will the News be the innocent means of securing a realization of its "hopes" for the anniversary of 1875.

FACTS ABOUT OAKLAND'S SEWER SYSTEM.

From time to time the metropolitan (otherwise San Francisco) press of the State has indulged in sharp and unfair criticism of Oakland's sanitary status on the score of sewerage facilities; in fact, the very site of the city as to its adaptation to healthful drainage. The metropolis, situated like Rome on her seven (hundred) hills, would seem to speak as by authority on the interesting subject of sewage, forgetting in her self-consciousness that she has a campagna skeleton in her own closet, that will prove more difficult to manage than any portion of Oakland: we refer to a large area south of Market street, so level that proper sewage is almost impossible. But we do not care to make an article of invidious comparisons.

Here are some of the facts about Oakland and her sewers as at present completed and projected: Leaving out the sewer on Eighth and Division streets at the Point, there are thirteen lateral sewers, averaging a length of 2,600 feet each, discharging their contents south into the San Antonio Creek, and thoroughly draining all the territory between First and Twelfth (north and south), and Filbert and Jackson streets east and west. East of Lake Merritt, or Brooklyn for short, East Twelfth street and Thirteenth Avenue have a due length of sewer. To be more definite, Oakland proper has the 2600-foot sewers on Filbert, Myrtle, Brush (contract let), Castro, Grove (nearly finished), Clay, Washington, Broadway, Franklin, Webster, Harrison, and Jackson—all of the foregoing mentioned are completed and in fine working order. Not a dollar, as it were, has been expended on repairs or in cleaning. Broadway sewer was put down over four years ago: was flushed once soon after completion, and never touched again till a few days since, when it was "tapped" and found to be clear of obstructions as when first constructed. So much for that.

The system and cost of the Oakland sewers will compare most favorably with those of San Francisco or any other city. The style of sewer in use in San Francisco is the old-fashioned brick, while those of Oakland are of cement; the former cost from $7 to $10 per lineal foot—the latter on the average about $1.60. San Francisco sewers are a continual annoyance, a nuisance—gases escaping from the catch-basins and cess-pools. There is nothing of that sort in connection with the cement sewers of Oakland.

The incline or fall of the Oakland sewers in question is one foot to two hundred, that of Chicago (same system) one to five hundred; of Brooklyn (N. Y.) same system, one to four hundred and twenty-five feet. In other words, the fall in the Oakland sewers is two and one-half times as great as that of Chicago and over twice that of Brooklyn.

The construction of a grand main sewer to drain all the northern part of the city, is about to begin—bids to be opened next week. This will extend clear across the city, from Lake Merritt to the main bay, and reach about one thousand and eight hundred acres; even covering the opposite slope outside the present city limits. These are the main points in the controversy, and let facts speak for themselves.

Comment has been indulged over the sewage discharge into the creek. Up till within the past six or eight years, the great city of London emptied all its filth into the river Thames. It was not considered unhealthy—only offensive. Complaint has been heard respecting a certain discharge into Lake Merritt, but that was not sewage proper; it was slops from a brewery, through a conduit of its own. The new main sewer projected will do away with all such offensiveness to the Lake. The creek has ample current to take care of itself, and all talk about that is silly.

This is the showing of our growing city on a most important feature. There is no more healthy spot on the globe at present, and nothing can interfere in the future with a continuance of such a satisfactory state of things. Let the metropolitan press treat us fairly in the race; come over early and often, and all that remains for her to be happy is to be virtuous.

The carpenters commenced the work of tearing down the old post-office furniture this morning, preparatory to moving the whole thing on to Ninth street the last of the week or first of next.

New Music.

Mr. H. Nolte, music dealer, 464 Eighth street, has left at this office a copy of Sam Booth's new temperance song, entitled "The Lips that Touch Liquor shall never Touch Mine," arranged for the piano by Geo. T. Evans. All the latest musical publications may be found at Nolte's.

Arithmetical Progression.

The advertising for the privilege of advertising again, is a sort of arithmetical calculation lately in vogue among the heavy dailies of Oakland, aided by the City Council. Their motto is that of old "Sniktuw" in the Legislature: "The Treasury—let's rake her!"

W. D. Fountain

Has on hand ten pianos to rent from five to ten dollars per month.

The Next Picnic.

The grand picnic of the U. O. R. M., is next on the list and promises to be one of the best of the season. Besides Alameda Stamm No. 113, of Oakland, the members of Harmonia Stamm, No. 160, and Golden Gate Stamm, No. 74, of San Francisco, will participate. The celebrated Fourth Artillery Band will furnish the music, and it is safe to predict that Badger's Grand Central Park will be lively next Sunday.

Geo. S. Brown

Will sell all kinds of hardware as low as the lowest. Especially wire-cloth.

Private School.

Mrs. Harrison will open a select school at her residence, north side of Sixteenth street, between Jefferson and Grove, Monday, July 6th. The various English branches together with French, German, Music, Drawing and Painting will be taught by a corps of competent instructors. Mrs. Harrison was recently connected with Madame Braun, on Eleventh street, and is well known as a thorough and efficient teacher. Parents can rest assured that their children will receive proper attention and instruction if placed in Mrs. Harrison's charge.

Aid the Suffering.

Those who desire to send aid to the suffering people on the Lower Mississippi valley, can find out the ways of communication from the agent of Wells-Fargo's express—Mr. Gaskill. The company have taken a lively interest in the matter, and there need be no fears of the safe transportation of money or goods entrusted to their care. Californians should be better prepared to give aid and comfort to the needy of the outside world than at any time in the history of the State; we have neither famine or flood, and the only pestilence prevailing is the San Francisco Sun-Chronicle combination. The prospect of crops of all kinds was never so good, and sympathy—a cheap article usually—can take on substantial airs at pleasure. Don't let the drowning Louisianians down on straws.

The Fourth in Oakland.

The City Council having refused to appropriate funds to fool away on the Fourth of July, it is not likely that any further effort will be made toward getting up a celebration. The small boys who "love the military" and other walking advertisements for furnishing tailor houses, will have to go over to the bigger city for that sort of thing. Of course, they can make as much of the fire-cracker question as they please at home, no meddling police to the contrary. The average Oaklander should feel thankful that he or she will not of necessity have to indulge in a share of the usual boom, fizzle and sweat on such occasions. There was a time when we swore by the Fourth of July as much as Pat by the 17th of Ireland, but thanks to something or other, no matter what, we have arrived at that period of existence that we would get up in the night to fight shy of Independence day. Of course, a picnic of a select order would not be objectionable. Previous to the election to close the saloons, our preference, maybe, was a jug of rum under a shade tree by a spring. But no Declarations and spreadeagles in ours. Our children shall be taught to memorize that historic parchment, but on the eve of the Fourth they shall carefully roll it up and place it where it will do the most good—anywhere but in reach of an aspiring Demosthenes.

More Mails.

Our contemporary at the Point says that Postal Agent Barstow has been over feeling round on the subject of having an additional United States mail or two established between San Francisco and Oakland. There is doubtless need of more daily service, six days in the week, but what has been very much needed for years in Oakland is a mail to San Francisco on Sunday. The Holy Sabbath is of all days a letter writing one, and yet there is no means of getting a letter off in that direction between Saturday evening and Monday at ten o'clock. Many business men would like to drop a postal card in on Sunday and have it reach their correspondents in the city early Monday morning, but there is no opportunity; and all mail from Oakland for north and south coast, must await this hitch. We are not sure but that a letter for Vallejo or San Mateo, for instance, dropped in the Oakland office Saturday night, would be even till Tuesday morning reaching its destination. At all events, have a mail made up here Sunday evening and put on the overland train for San Francisco, and that will be an important point gained.

Our Traveling Facilities.

Says the Enquirer: "We gave as a rumor a few weeks ago, that it was in contemplation, by the Railroad Company, to run the local trains around by Melrose, and so from a continuous circle. We now learn from a gentleman who has made inquiries into the matter, that this plan is not at all likely to be adopted, and that we need not anticipate additional facilities for the present, from the Railroad Company. Nevertheless, we think we see a good prospect ahead—and not very distant either—for half-hourly trips to and from San Francisco, through the agency of the Alameda, Oakland and Piedmont Horse-car Railroad Company, which we learn is actively at work, and will, at an early day, have their road in running order; with rolling stock on it, to a line with Fessing's Gardens, on Santa Clara avenue. Then people of Alameda can go over the creek to Oakland every half hour in the day, and avail themselves of Oakland's steam-car facilities. And then, perhaps, the people at Alameda station may lend a hand to build the road to Park street."

Death of McLaughlin.

At the meeting of the Board of Supervisors on Monday last, Captain Tarbett informed the Board that an insane man named McLaughlin, who had been examined by the proper authorities, had been retained in the city prison in hopes that he might recover, but that the case had assumed alarming features and recovery was almost impossible, and the Captain requested that McLaughlin be sent to his home instead of the Insane Asylum. Dr. Reilly volunteered to attend upon him free of charge. The request was granted and Supervisor Wilcox was empowered to afford the family, which was in destitute circumstances, necessary relief. Mr. McLaughlin died this morning at four o'clock. Captain Tarbett has been assiduous in his attention upon the afflicted family, and is making the necessary arrangements for the funeral.

Mount Diablo.

The Alta has discovered a new line of stages running from Haywood to the summit of Mount Diablo—a distance of twenty-one miles—and back the same day. It is a new road, and thereby one can go out and do the mountain by the morning overland train and return the same evening. This is about the closest corner that can be had on Diablo at present. The scenery is said to possess agreeable features all the way from Haywood.

"Two Years' License," etc.

The statement in one of the morning papers that "there are a few" saloon-keepers who have taken out license for two years ahead, is not confirmed by the City Marshal. He knows of only one or two that have license for six months ahead. The Marshal ought to know the facts in the case.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER.

Our friend Tusher goes about the business of life as though in a dream. He appears to the world at large to have something of a melancholy nature on his mind, but we know what that something is. He went to see his girl last Sunday evening. She met him at the door, shook hands with him cordially, and all that sort of thing, but said he needn't mind about coming in, the other fellow was in the parlor. Tusher says, being kicked by a mule is nothing to be compared with his astonishment on that occasion, and insisted upon it, that if she keeps on that way for a few months, he shall begin to think that she is not in earnest, and is trifling with him.

A phrenological professor, who has been doing the bumps largely, and who is a tall specimen of the human genus, and abounds in self-conceit, so much that he sometimes mistakes impertinent interrogations for wholesome inquiries, and makes them accordingly, one morning observed our friend Barrel quietly smoking a cigar. "Young man," said he in a severe tone, "don't you know that the man who uses tobacco is a fool?" "Well," said Barrel, "it may be so; but there is one fact that you are not aware of, and which I wish to impress on your mind—that there are a great many fools who don't use it." The phrenologist drew the inference, and discontinued the conversation.

Here is a rare case of honesty. A man in this city found a roll of money, and he had a terrible struggle with himself, whether he should quietly pocket the prize or advertise for the owner. Just as his conscience was on the point of coming out second best, he discovered that the money was all counterfeit, when he concluded that honesty was the best policy, and handed the money over to a police captain. Unfortunately the man is too old for a Sunday School book here, but he may make his mark in the world yet.

This is the way a Florida man expects to get a partner to his bosom. He advertises as follows: "Any gal what's got a cow, a good feather-bed, with comfortable linens, five hundred dollars in good, genuine slap-up greenbacks, that has had the small-pox, measles and understands tending children, can find a customer for life by ritten a small william ducky addressed K. Y. Z., and stick in a crack of Uncle Billy Smith's barn, jinin' the pig-pen, where Harrison Reed is now planning for future operations."

The editor of the Columbia, S. C., Mail, with graceful eloquence acknowledged the receipt of a milk punch in one column, and in the next published "a Temperance Department." Somebody has complained of his inconsistency, and he explains that the "editor of the Mail has nothing to do with what goes into the temperance column of his paper, nor have the gentlemen who conduct that department anything to do with what goes into the editor of the Mail."

The following dialogue between a highfalutin lawyer and plain witness is a good bit at the fashion of using big crooked words: "Did the defendant knock the plaintiff down with malice prepense?" "No, sir; he knocked him down with a flat-iron." "You misunderstood me, my friend; I wished to know whether he attacked him with any intent?" "Oh no, sir, it was outside the tent." "Oh, no; I wish to know if it was a pre-concerted affair?" "No sir, it was not a free concert affair; it was a circus."

"Dad, if I were to see a duck on the wing, and were to shoot it, would you lick me?" "O no, my son; it would show that you were a good marksman, and I would be proud of you." "Well, then, dad, I peppered our old Muscovy duck as he was flyin' over the fence to-day, and it would have done you good to see him drop."
